Mapping Disaster revisits some of the most tragic and catastrophic events humanity has faced and examines what can be learned in their aftermath. If we were to hit rewind and replay the worst disasters in history, tracking time, directions and trajectory – what would be revealed post impact? If we knew what would unfold, could we course correct and save lives? Through CGI models, captivating archival footage, historic accounts, expert interviews and analysis, the series attempts to answer these questions by dissecting disasters of the past, piece by piece, examining what went wrong, and how we can better prepare for the disasters of tomorrow.
